ENGINEERING NEWS-RECORD FOR THIRD YEAR IN A ROW

SAN DIEGO - (June 16, 2014) – Cumming, an international project management and cost consulting firm, announced today it was once again ranked highest among all San Diego-based construction management firms by leading trade publication, Engineering News-Record (ENR).

The Top 100 Construction Management-for-Fee list, published annually, ranks the 100 largest U.S. construction firms, both publicly and privately held, based on fees for agency construction management projects.

“Surpassing our client’s expectations by consistently providing ethical project oversight and delivering high-quality facilities on schedule and within budget has allowed Cumming to continue our nationwide strategic growth plan,” said Peter Heald, President at Cumming. “Being the highest ranked San Diego-based construction management firm for the third year in a row speaks volumes about Cumming’s integrity and the work we do on behalf of our clients.”

Specializing in project, construction, and cost management and control services, Cumming’s portfolio includes work across a broad range of sectors. The firm has more than 100 assignments underway at any given time, and has worked on projects worldwide with a collective value in excess of $100 billion. Cumming’s 13% growth from 2013 to 2014 has been supported by recent project and construction management assignments, including work for Marriott International; Kaiser Permanente; California State University, San Marcos; Facebook; University of California, San Francisco; Hilton Worldwide; Charleston County School District; and Los Angeles Unified School District, among many other clients nationwide.

Engineering News-Record provides news, analysis, commentary and data for construction industry professionals. ENR connects diverse sectors of the industry with information on issues such as business management, design, construction methods, technology, safety, law, legislation, environment and labor.

Cumming was first named to Engineering News-Record’s Top 100 Construction Management for Fee list in 2005, and continues to receive the honor, ranking in the top 40 nationally every year since 2008. Among U.S. firms who are strictly Owner’s Representatives, Cumming consistently ranks in the top 10.
