LEADING CONSTRUCTION CONSULTANCY BRINGS ON NEW CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER TO PROVIDE INTERNATIONAL STRATEGY DURING GROWTH

NEW YORK – July 24, 2017 – Cumming, an international construction project management and cost consulting firm, announced that it has hired A. Al Jajeh to be its Chief Financial Officer as the consultancy continues to experience double digit growth and expand its global footprint. Al Jajeh, a seasoned executive with more than two decades of experience in successful international business build-outs, will be responsible for leading the construction firm's financial and accounting groups through its next phase of complex growth initiatives.

"Al's highly successful track record within the industry of executing aggressive global growth strategies, and his innate leadership skills will help drive our domestic and international goals forward," said Finlay Cumming, CEO and Founder at Cumming.

Al Jajeh brings decades of demonstrated international financial expertise and proactive corporate organizational strategies to the growing construction and development firm. Before joining Cumming, Al Jajeh was the Chief Financial & Strategy Officer at ASTAD Project Management. With its headquarters in Doha, Qatar, Al Jajeh provided corporate strategy, implementation and planning, sound financial policies, and maximized fiscal performance for the international project management firm. Prior to his tenure at ASTAD, Al Jajeh was the General Manager at Weatherford International where he served as a strategic leader, business partner, and was an integral part of the executive management team working hands-on throughout the organization to drive growth, strategize expansion, and manage its growing industry presence.
